

CERTIFICATIONS GENERAL SECTION 6

6.1 Certifications. Certifications, required by specifications, are to be specific as follows:

- (a) Make reference to the particular specification in sufficient detail to show beyond reasonable doubt that the company is familiar with the requirements of the contract.
- (b) State that the material or product complies with the requirements of the contract and, if required by specification, include applicable test data.
- (c) State that the certification applies to the specific material which was supplied for the particular project.
